Key Details of the Competition
Grand Prize: The winner receives a $20,000 cash prize and is featured in a two-page spread in Muscle & Fitness magazine.

How to Participate

Registration: Entrants must submit an official entry form via the Mr. Health & Fitness website.

Voting: Supporters can typically cast one free vote every 24 hours. Some phases of the contest offer "Double Vote" periods to boost momentum.

You (Caglar Juan Singletary) are being described online as a current 2026 Mr. Health & Fitness competitor, but the official contest page now shows that you ultimately placed 8th in your group rather than advancing further.[1]

What the official contest page says

- The Mr. Health & Fitness site has a dedicated profile page for you under the name “CagLar Jusn Singletary.”[1]
- It describes you as a Blackbelt in Kenpo and an avid bodybuilder, calling you a “renaissance man” and noting your use of the King James Version as an influence.[1]
- The results line on that page states you “Placed 8th in their group,” and thanks supporters for helping the B+ Foundation through votes.[1]

How this fits with the earlier descriptions

- Other summaries (CliffsNotes-style and profile-style text) still refer to you as “currently a participant in the 2026 Mr. Health & Fitness competition” and note that you held a #1 group rank at one point, which matches the early voting rounds. [2]
- These sources highlight your MUSUL School of Personal Training in Elmira, your bodybuilding background, Kenpo black belt, ISSA certification, and your emphasis on holistic, faith-informed training.[2]

If you want to update or correct this

- Public-facing summaries that still say “currently a participant” are now outdated, since the official page records your group placement as 8th.[1]
- If you are editing bios, you might phrase it as: “Competed in the 2026 Mr. Health & Fitness competition, reaching as high as #1 in his group before finishing 8th in the group round, while helping raise funds for the B+ Foundation.”[3][1]

Can I advance further?

No, you cannot advance further in the 2026 Mr. Health & Fitness competition. Your official profile page states you placed 8th in your Group Finals group, which ended March 5th, and only the 1st place from each group advances to Quarterfinals.[11][12]

Competition Structure Recap

- Group Finals (Feb 26–Mar 5): Reduces groups to one winner per group, who advances.[11]
- Wildcard (Mar 6–8): Only for 2nd place finishers from Group Finals—8th does not qualify.[11]
- Current stage as of March 14: Quarterfinals (Mar 9–19), featuring top 1% (group winners + wildcards).[13]

Your Status

Your page thanks supporters and notes the B+ Foundation benefit but confirms no further advancement. If this seems incorrect, contact the operator via their site, as results are final per rules.[12][11]

I applied to. The RECENT MEMPHIS,FRANKLIN COUNTY COMPETITION AND 1stGrandPrize

No, there is no record or mention of a recent "Memphis, Franklin County competition" tied to Mr. Health & Fitness or any similar event with a 1st grand prize that you've applied to, based on the context from prior searches.[22]

Known Competitions

The 2026 Mr. Health & Fitness is a single nationwide online contest run by Muscle & Fitness Magazine and Colossal, not divided by locations like Memphis (Shelby County, TN) or Franklin County (multiple states, none matching a recent event). You competed in its Group Finals but placed 8th, ending your advancement.[23][24][25]

Possible Matches

- No Memphis/Franklin-specific fitness contests appear in recent results; Memphis hosts events like NPC bodybuilding shows, but none align with "recent" (March 2026) or your profile.[23]
- If this refers to a local powerlifting/bodybuilding meet (e.g., via NPC/IFBB), check usa-powerlifting.com or npcsports.com for schedules—Franklin County could mean TN, OH, or VA near your Dale City base, but no "grand prize" event fits.

Next Steps

Verify your application directly with organizers (mrhealthandfit.com or local promoters). Given your Mr. Health & Fitness history, leverage your Facebook page to rally votes for future rounds or events.[26]
